What Officer Carlos Espinoza recorded

Espinoza attributes the first account to Child Development Supervisor Layna Mendes. His report also records [redacted] disputing receipt.

> She said the facility had previously issued a formal trespass letter to [redacted] on 10/28/2025, stating that she was no longer permitted on any CPCD property due to prior incidents, including an alleged physical altercation with Shana. [redacted] had been informed of this restriction both in writing and verbally by law enforcement officers at a separate location.

Citations and the child-safety report

CSPD case 2025-00416573 | 27-page compilation

The initial report assigns different citations

Officer Carlos Espinoza lists municipal trespass for [redacted] and damage to private property for John Wingo. This is the disposition section of his initial case report.

> Disposition: [redacted] was issued [redacted] for municipal trespass. John was issued E1481688 for municipal damage to private property.

A supplement describes John Wingo differently

Detective Trevor Kenoyer describes John as cited for both offenses. The original citations would resolve the conflict between the narratives.

> I stayed with Mr. Wingo until Officer's C. Espinoza/7601 and E. Reid/3175 arrived on scene and issued Mr. Wingo a citation for trespass and damage to property.

A detective records [redacted] Wingo's concern

Detective Sean Medina records the grandfather describing suspected abuse involving his grandson. This passage records the concern and the detective's characterization of the conversation. It gives no child-safety investigation outcome.

> [redacted] did not make sense as he continued to explain his grandson being a victim of child abuse at the hands of an unknown suspect.
